The Brauer Story

Over 90 Years Of Innovative Complementary Medicine

Brauer has a proud history of supporting the health and wellbeing of Australian families that spans more than 90 years. Today, Brauer produces innovative complementary medicines, with a diversified product range combining nutrients, herbs and homeopathic ingredients.

Drawing from Traditional Wisdom

Traditional homeopathic medicine was our founder, Herman Brauer's, bread and butter. Utilising holistic principles dating back more than 200 years, homeopathy is based on traditional principles and champions listening to your body's ability to heal. Today, we continue to harness the enduring wisdom of homeopathic and Western herbal medicine in our formulations, selecting premium ingredients that work with your body.

High-Quality Ingredients from Around The World

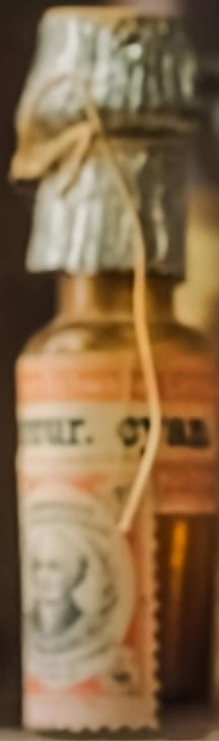

We work with leading raw material suppliers globally to ensure we know the provenance of every ingredient. Vitamins, minerals, nutrients, herbs and homeopathic ingredients come in various forms. We strive to select the most bioavailable forms of our ingredients, to help ensure they are readily absorbed by the body. After all, the quality of our range is ultimately determined by the quality of the ingredients inside the bottle.

Strict Australian Quality Standards

As an Australian manufacturer, Brauer adheres to some of the world's most rigorous safety and quality standards in the world. All our products undergo extensive quality testing at every stage of the manufacturing process before they are released from our TGA-licensed facility. Samples from every batch of products that we produce are also retained for the duration of its shelf life to undergo further testing and to ensure its ongoing stability.

Continuous Improvement and Innovation

As pioneers of Australian complementary medicine, we understand that Australians' health requirements are constantly evolving. So, we work tirelessly to understand the changing needs of our consumers and develop innovative health products for the whole family. Our experienced Research and Development team keeps an ear to the ground and finger on the pulse to identify emerging ideas in the complementary medicines sector.
