Femix Alpha is the Best Choice in the Folate Supplementation

Femix Alpha is the best choice in the folate supplementation because it maximizes the benefit of folate supplementation, protecting naturally all women and babies.

Femix Alpha with patented Folic Acid (6S-5-MTHF) technology, which is 4th generation folate, is a special formula containing 4 essential elements for mother and baby during pregnancy.

The first 6–8 weeks after conception are critical for baby’s development including growth of its vital organs. Femix Alpha helps build up the essential nutrients to support your baby’s healthy development from the day you conceive.

Clinical evidence suggests that supplementation of the natural form, 6S-5-MTHF, is a better alternative to supplementation of folic acid, and that can effectively improve folate biomarkers in young women in early pregnancy in order to prevent NTDs. One important difference among prenatal vitamins is the source of folate. It may be included as folic acid, or the bioavailable form, L-Methylfolate like 400 µg Folic Acid (6S-5-MTHF).

Selected nutrients to support heart function and blood pressure- with the important protein building block arginine

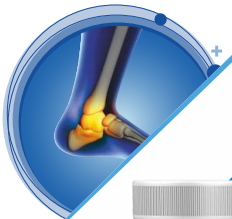

Increased homocysteine levels and a lack of dissolved nitric oxide are risk factors for vascular diseases. Sufficient amounts of folic acid, vitamin B6 and B12 keep the homocysteine level in balance. Nitric oxide can only be produced in the human organism from L-arginine.

- L-Arginin is an amino acid with four nitrogen atoms. In the body, it is converted into the vasodilating nitric oxide and in this way can unfold its effect on blood circulation and lowering blood pressure
- Vitamin B1 supports heart health and contributes to normal heart function.
- Vitamins B6 and B12 contribute to the formation of red blood cells and contribute to normal homocysteine metabolism.
- Folic acid contributes to normal blood formation, has an essential function in cell division and also contributes to normal homocysteine metabolism.

CENTAX CURCUMA

Dosage: 1 Capsule per Day
Packaging: 30 capsules.

Centax Curcuma

Centax Curcuma formulated for your immune system, it gives you highest level of nutritional support in a single one-a-day capsule.

Centax Curcuma with piperine, boswellia, vitamin C and D provides valuable plant extracts of the highest quality and bioavailability and contributes to general well-being.

Centax Curcuma combines these two plant extracts with piperine, vitamin C and D. The piperine is derived from blackcurrant. The piperine contained is extracted from black pepper and has the property of increasing the absorption of curcuma and thus its bioavailability.

Frankincense is also traditionally used in Ayurvedic medicine. Like curcuma, the boswellic acids it contains are also said to have anti-inflammatory properties.

Strong Combination for strong bones

Centax Vitamin D3 + K2 Drops contribute to the maintenance of normal bones and muscles by combining the important vitamins. Thanks to the liquid form, it can be easily consumed by children and people with swallowing problems. The drops are easy to dose according to individual needs. Centax Vitamin D3 + K2 drops are free from additives and 100% vegetarian.

The intake of important nutrients is essential for the health and strength of our bones. Besides the bone building block calcium, Vitamins D and K are particularly relevant. While Vitamin D promotes the absorption of calcium from the intestine and the incorporation of the mineral into the bone, Vitamin K contributes to the storage of calcium in the bone. Since they complement each other in their function in bone metabolism, a joint supply of the two fat-soluble vitamins makes sense.

CENTAXSPORT L-Arginin

Dosage: 3 Capsule per Day
Packaging: 90 capsules

Well provided with the important protein component

Centax Sport L-Arginine contains high doses of L-Arginine in the best bioavailability and thus contributes to an optimal supply of the protein component. Especially during stress and high physical strain, such as endurance and strength sports, the need for protein increases – Centax Sport L-Arginine supports the body in meeting the increased need for L-Arginine in these life situations.

L-Arginine is a semi-essential amino acid. Although it can be produced by the body itself, the body's own synthesis cannot meet the demand due to certain life circumstances, which is why the important amino acid must be taken in with food.
