Sourcing at Origin in Indonesia

A limited quantity of premium cinnamon forests exist. For two decades, Origine has partnered closely with Sumatran farmers who have harvested premium cinnamon for generations. We have built trusted relationships with them, as they understand our high standards for selecting the best specimens. Cinnamon trees take over 15 years to mature. We have implemented agroforestry programs to sustainably cultivate this precious resource and ensure its future.

Embracing Cinnamon Diversity

Cinnamon presents a multifaceted flavor profile, which varies based on the location of the bark on the tree, resulting in notes of sweetness, spiciness or astringency. Thanks to our state-of-the-art production center in Jakarta, we have the ability to customize and tailor our formulations, leveraging these different qualities to offer you the one that perfectly meets your requirements.

TEA BAG CUT

Tea bag-cut cinnamon is most commonly used for tea blends, mulling and pickling spices. It boasts the same great flavor and aroma as our whole and ground cinnamon products. If you are looking for larger-sized cinnamon chips, we also offer cut and sifted and broken and cleaned cinnamon.

GROUND

As we source our natural cinnamon directly from the origin, we are able to produce tailor-made formulations. Sweet or spicy? Ground cinnamon is a great addition to baked goods and pairs well with other warm spices like nutmeg and cloves.

EXTRACT POWDER

We offer an innovative dry form of cinnamon that can be a new economical addition to your ingredient catalogue. The spray-drying process enables us to concentrate a liquid extract and turn it into a powder, providing intense flavor and very good solubility.

EXTRACT

Cinnamon extract is another handy way to add pure cinnamon flavor to any application. We offer both water-soluble and alcohol-soluble extracts. Our extracts are non-GMO and can also be alcohol-free to suit your specific needs.
